AN ITALIAN MASTER: Federico Fellini Film series

National
Music Week
Celebration

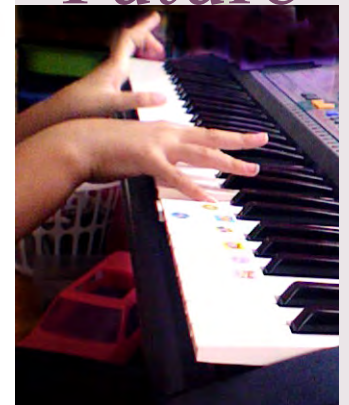

Music:
Key to the Future

8 1/2

Monday, May 24, 7:00 - 9:30,
Headquarters, for adults

Marcello Mastroianni plays Guido, a director trying to relax a bit in the wake of his latest hit. Besieged by people eager to work with him, however, he also struggles to find his next idea for a film. The combined pressures draw him within himself, where his recollections of significant events in his life and the many lovers he has left behind begin to haunt him. The marriage of Fellini's hyperreal imagery, dreamy sidebars, and the gravity of Guido's increasing guilt and self-awareness make this as much a deeply moving, soulful film as it is an electrifying spectacle. Mastroianni is wondrous—all the more so as the character becomes increasingly divorced from the celebrity hype that ultimately outpaces him. [1963, 138 min]

Wednesday,
May 3-6, 6:30 - 8:30,
Headquarters,
Adults & Kids

Students of the Rappahannock Music Society piano teachers will perform in the lobby. A display of posters and songs will be displayed in the stairwell for the month of May.

ART film

Thursday, May 20, 7:00 - 8:00, Headquarters

A Day in the Country: Impressionism and the French Landscape

This video provides a unique perspective on the works of the French Impressionists by stressing the relationship between the artists and their favorite subject matter: the landscape of France. 55 min / color / 1988
